OFFICIAL OPENING CEREMONY OF THE BAKU ENERGY WEEK

"Good morning, ladies and gentlemen.

When I was speaking at the Baku Energy Week last time, I informed the audience that we export natural gas to eight countries. Now I'd like to inform you that the number of countries to which we export our gas has reached 12. And this is not the end.

So, all these are positive dynamics, and we see the positive impact of our energy development not only on Azerbaijan's own potential, but also on the neighborhood.

Last year, at Baku Energy Week, several contracts totaling 1,000 megawatts of green energy were signed. This time, several contracts of several hundred megawatts of green energy will also be signed. We are continuing on that path.

This is our legacy as a host country, as a responsible actor on the energy market, and as a country which always puts realistic targets and is capable of bringing together different actors."

From the speech by the President of the Republic of Azerbaijan, Mr. Ilham Aliyev at the opening ceremony of Baku Energy Week at the Baku Expo Center

WELCOME LETTER

The welcome letter from the President of the Republic of Türkiye, Recep Tayyip Erdoğan, addressed to the participants and guests of Baku Energy Week was read by Alparslan Bayraktar, Minister of Energy and Natural Resources of the Republic of Türkiye.

"Distinguished participants, Dear guests,

I greet you all with my most sincere feelings and affection.

As in previous years, I hope that the events being held within the framework of Baku Energy Week this year are successful for the two eternally brotherly countries Türkiye and Azerbaijan and for our region in particular.

Our close relations with dear Azerbaijan, as in all areas, continue strongly and resolutely in the energy sector. Together, we have secured many achievements in this field over the years. The global geopolitical developments experienced in recent times have once again confirmed the importance of Turkish-Azerbaijani cooperation in ensuring energy security.

This cooperation, crowned with infrastructure projects such as the Baku-Tbilisi-Ceyhan, Baku-Tbilisi-Erzurum, and TANAP pipelines, makes significant contributions not only to Türkiye and Azerbaijan but also to the energy security of the region and Europe.

The Iğdır-Nakhchivan pipeline, which we inaugurated in March, is the latest example of our successful energy cooperation. The launch of this line has further bolstered the energy security of both the Nakhchivan region and Türkiye.

Increasing electricity exchanges between Türkiye and Azerbaijan is another strategically important project. In this context, expanding the capacity of both the Türkiye–Nakhchivan and Türkiye–Georgia interconnectors is a renewed step we must take swiftly. We have signed a memorandum of understanding on cooperation in green electricity transmission and trade with the aim of establishing a new electricity interconnector line between Türkiye, Azerbaijan, Georgia, and Bulgaria. We aim to complete this project, which will be another historic step for energy security and prosperity in our region—Inshallah, as soon as possible.

We also see great potential for new natural gas projects between our two countries. Azerbaijan's strategic role in the global energy market, supplying significant volumes of gas to both Türkiye and Europe for many years, is of vital importance. Looking ahead, there is a significant opportunity to expand our cooperation in exporting Turkmen gas via Azerbaijan and Türkiye, which will benefit all of us. This project will contribute to both the diversification of supply routes and regional prosperity.

I wish success to all participants of Baku Energy Week, where these dynamic conditions and developments in the energy sector will be closely discussed. I thank all those who contributed to the organization of this event.

I sincerely greet my dear brother, President Ilham Aliyev—whom I had the pleasure of meeting in Lachin last week—and all other participants of this event."

WELCOME LETTER

A welcome letter addressed to the participants and visitors of the Baku Energy Week from US President Donal Trump was read by Wyatt Toehlke, Senior Advisor for European and Eurasian Affairs at the U.S. Department of State

"Dear Mr. President,

I want to extend my sincere congratulations to you and the people of Azerbaijan on the 30th anniversary of the International Caspian Oil and Gas Exhibition. This milestone is a testament to Azerbaijan's leadership in the region's energy sector and commitment to global energy security.

Over the past 30 years, our two nations, both blessed with energy abundance, have enjoyed a tremendously productive partnership in the hydrocarbon sector. We share the view that natural gas will play an essential role in meeting rising global energy demands in the coming decades, and we support the right of every nation to leverage its resources for its own prosperity.

The United States values its partnership with Azerbaijan and appreciates the regional energy stability that makes it possible. I look forward to our continued collaboration in this important sector. Together, we can work toward a future of greater energy independence, sustainability, and economic growth. Once again, congratulations on this momentous occasion."

the Republic of Azerbaijan

The extensive opportunities for cooperation in the Caspian basin within the framework of the Southern Gas Corridor and the emerging Green Energy Corridors once again demonstrate that Baku Energy Week will remain a platform where we will actively participate and advance important initiatives for many years to come.

I am confident that our mutually beneficial cooperation will continue to contribute to the development of our countries and the enhancement of energy security across a broader geography, while Baku Energy Week will serve as a trusted venue for dialogue and a reliable guide toward a sustainable energy future.

Baku Energy Week continues to serve as a distinguished platform for wide-ranging discussion of critical energy issues and for the exchange of expertise on the latest technologies and digital solutions, offering participants valuable opportunities for cooperation.

I am confident that this year's events, by bringing together the world's leading energy companies, will further reinforce the role of Baku Energy Week in ensuring global energy security, addressing current challenges, and supporting the sustainable development of the energy sector.

On the occasion of the exhibition's 30th anniversary, the "Smart Energy Hub" a dedicated startup zone has been established, providing local startups with a unique opportunity to present their advanced solutions and strategies to leading companies in the energy sector and other key stakeholders. As an organization that supports startups, we highly appreciate this commendable initiative by the organizers. We are confident that the presentations, bilateral meetings, and discussions held within the framework of the Caspian Oil and Gas Exhibition will open new doors for cooperation for local SMEs, further strengthening their role within the value chains of major companies.

VISITORS' REVIEWS

The exhibition left a very strong impression. Its 30th anniversary underscores how important and well-established this event is for industry and the region. I should also mention that I have attended the oil and gas exhibition in Almaty, which is also organized by İteca, and I can say that the level of organization is consistently high across all their events. These exhibitions always yield productive results, offer opportunities to meet top industry executives, and serve as valuable platforms for business networking.

Raigul Bekteliyeva,

Managing Director, Caspian Allied International

I extend my congratulations to the organizers and participants of Caspian Oil & Gas on the occasion of its 30th anniversary. In today's fast-paced and ever-changing world, staying relevant and influential for three decades is a remarkable achievement.

This exhibition serves as one of the finest showcases of Azerbaijan's economic strength and global potential.

Elmir Agalarov,

Deputy Head of the Analytics Department, SOCAR

We've come to the exhibition from Russia because our company is directly involved in the oil and gas sector. We decided to attend the event to get acquainted with Azerbaijan's development plans in this area. Our goal is to gather valuable information and explore potential collaboration opportunities.

Nail Zagidulin,

Deputy CEO of Transneft - Automation and Metrology

PARTICIPANTS' REVIEWS

We have participated in this exhibition since 2018. It is personally my second involvement in this event since I took my role to handle sales of line pipes for the Caspian region. For me, this event is a very important moment to engage with our key customers in Azerbaijan and the region, where we can spend time together in a different setting and reflect on past work done and future opportunities. An exhibition is a good time and place for networking. At this event and its follow-up editions, I would like to continue this engagement that we have with our key customers and relevant stakeholders that are present here. We are delighted to see SOCAR, BP, TOTAL, and Turkish Petroleum here. We are looking forward to hosting them at our booth. I hope to see more of such regional companies at this exhibition and in future editions of this event.

Imran Ul Haq, Sales Manager, Tenaris (Italy)

This exhibition is a great venue for meeting with old partners and this year there is even an option to online reserve a meeting time slot with other exhibitors. It is a new and potentially highly beneficial feature not widely exploited by the exhibiting companies yet. We have drafted a list and negotiated meetings with several companies, and we will later walk around the exposition to meet some of the new businesses we have noticed here. Many are our competitors, but they too, should be kept in sight, as they say. We wish this anniversary exhibition stable growth, expansion, and development. It is a key specialized event in the region, not without reason attended every year by the president of the country.

Ildar Ibragimov,Managing Director KSI PetroGasServices (Kazakhstan)

Participation in this major regional exhibition offers us a valuable opportunity to showcase our capabilities, share the knowledge we've gained, and build new business connections. We are exhibiting as part of a joint stand alongside our partners a reflection of our open and collaborative approach. We are proud to be part of this milestone anniversary exhibition. We wish it continued growth, warm appreciation from its guests, and hope that it becomes a starting point for new projects and partnerships.

Narmin JafarovaOperational Director, TP Engineering

Many new agreements have been signed here at the Baku Expo Center. Companies have entered into long-term contracts, which means that, on a national level, we are all contributing to the continued development of this sector and the successful implementation of promising projects. New technologies and advanced solutions demand progress and professionalism, and we are proud to be part of that process. We value the knowledge and experience we've gained through participating in Caspian Oil and Gas. Whenever I attend exhibitions like this, I evaluate them from two perspectives as both a participant and a visitor. And I can say with confidence that from both standpoints, these exhibitions have a highly positive impact and support the development of business.

Arzu AslanbekovDirector of Solutions Equipment Tools

This year marks the 30th anniversary of the exhibition, and we're proud to be participating for the first time. We are impressed by the high standard of the event and the strong presence of our industry peers. While it's still early in the exhibition, everything so far has been well-organized and professionally executed. We appreciate the opportunity to showcase our innovative solutions in such a well-established and respected venue.

Anton PadernoDeputy Technical Director of RSE

PARTICIPANTS' REVIEWS

We are proud to participate in Baku Energy Week each year. This vital platform allows us to collaborate with government partners, industry leaders, and innovators as we work together to build a greener, more resilient future for Azerbaijan and the region.

Selim Güven

Country Director for Azerbaijan and Türkiye at ACWA Power

This year, Infypower is attending an exhibition in Azerbaijan for the first time. The event is particularly significant as it marks the 30th anniversary of the exhibition. Infypower views this as an excellent opportunity to enter the Azerbaijan market and establish new connections. The company is eager to explore potential business partnerships and is particularly interested in the growing electric vehicle (EV) sector.

Galina Pan

Sales manager EMEA Sales Department at Shenzhen Infypower Co., Ltd

In 2025, our participation has taken on even greater significance: we approached the preparation more thoroughly and are presenting our products in an expanded format. On the occasion of the 30th anniversary of the exhibition, we are also using this platform to meet with international partners and distributors with whom we already have established cooperation and are conducting substantive negotiations. The positive outcomes of our participation are already evident. We have expanded our client base and further strengthened the company's business reputation. Our stand was attended not only by representatives of the company but also by partners and distributors with whom we work both in the Azerbaijani and global markets. The contacts we gained and the feedback we received from visitors provide valuable opportunities for implementing successful projects and establishing long-term partnerships in the future.

Fanara Isgandarova

Business Development Specialist at R&M Electrical Group Ltd

CBM Engineering has been a participant in Baku Energy Week for four consecutive years, since 2022. Over this time, the event has provided us with valuable experience and professional exposure. While we may not have gained a large number of new clients directly from the exhibition, the business connections we have made have proven highly beneficial. The event continues to be an important platform for building strategic partnerships and strengthening our reputation in the market.

Maryam Atrafi Giyasi

Project Support Team Lead, CBM Engineering

We consider the Caspian Power exhibition to be one of the most significant events in the sector, drawing attention even at the highest levels of government. Participating in such a platform provides us with the opportunity to engage with leading companies and potential partners, expand our customer network, and strengthen our position in the renewable energy industry.
